

Published based on Mafia Wars - Leveling Guide

Mafia Wars - Leveling Guide

Okay, so right about now Mafia Wars is super popular on Facebook and Myspace. Everybody either a) plays it or b) knows about it. I figured that you would enjoy some hints on how to make your game more entertaining.

Leveling up.

This is probably the easiest thing to do in this game, and also the most time consuming. The issue we all have is that the amount of energy we have does not seem to fill back up fast enough! AHH! So we need to make the best use of our energy as we can. So here are some ideas you can use.

1. Do your math. Before doing jobs, look at your experience level and your energy level. You need to figure out which jobs to do based upon your energy level. If you've got 12 energy and only like 16exp to go until you level up do not do a job that takes 7 energy and only gives you 10 exp! Do some math and find out if you can level up by doing other jobs that will make the best use of your energy. Maybe you might even have to go down a Job Level (ie. Move from Enforcer to Soldier and do a job that uses less energy and gives you the most experience points. The main idea here is to level up when your energy is at it's lowest point possible. This way you dont have unused energy left over right when you level up. There is nothing worse than having 105 max energy and leveling up when you have 99 energy left.

2. If you are about to level up (i.e. you need 9 exp) and you have NO energy. Dont go running off and using your Energy Pack that your family sends you. It's a waste! What you should do is go fight someone! You get 1 or 2 experience points for every battle you win so do that instead. When you level up you'll get your energy back and still be able to use your Energy Pack afterwards.

3. If you're going for a fast leveling experience, you should put most of your profile points you get when you level up into the energy choice. I did this until I had around 150 or so. At the time of writing, I'm a level 42 "Skilled Enforcer" and have 152 energy, 125 health, and 14 stamina. Having 152 energy makes doing the jobs quick and painless. Just the other day I went from level 40 to level 42 in about 15 minutes. I did this by following the 2 suggestions above. But also having 152 energy helped ALOT. So my suggestion would be (for right now) to put as many of your profile points as you can into energy. I didn't do this from the start, but I wish I had.

There are more tips and ideas over on Triviality - Mafia Wars Tips and Ideas

Shortcut to practical facts about weber genesis grills - give a look to quoted webpage.

You can also find this article published on Mafia Wars - Leveling Guide